London ORGAN DAY 2024

Gregorian Beauty

Our Lady of Victories,
Kensington

Saturday 2 March 2024
235a Kensington High St, London W8 6SF

London Organ Day 2024

will, like our event in 2023, focus on a brand-new pipe organ in London. A visit to the Skrabl organ at Our Lady of Victories, Kensington is overdue; completed in 2021 this four-manual, French-inspired organ sits in a dramatic acoustic. It will be the ideal vehicle for our performers and their programmes.

Timothy Macklin will start the day by telling us something about this significant new organ, and will demonstrate it for us. Appropriately enough given the venue, the musical theme of our day will be Gregorian chant. We will hear some of the very many ways in which plainsong has inspired composers writing for the organ, and learn more from Martin Baker about chant itself.

Martin will be making a welcome return to London Organ Day, whereas Ourania Gassiou, Sebastian Thomson and Ben Bloor are celebrated performers we have not yet heard at a London Organ Day; I look forward to welcoming them. Alongside other repertoire, Sebastian's recital will give us an opportunity to hear some of the fruits of his wonderful The Angels of Creation project. All in all, another varied London Organ Day programme, exploring ground
